Aloha Temple (Shriners) held an election last Saturday evening at which the following were elected to serve during the coming year: Illustrious Potentate, C. G. Bartlett; Chief Rabbi, Fred. C. Smith; Assistant Rabbi, William H. Goetz; High Priest and Prophet, Geo. H. Angus; Oriental Guide, Tom Wall; Recorder, H. C. Bruns; Treasurer, H. C. Webster; Representative to the Imperial Council, Jas. S. McCandless.

NOTHING DOING ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Stocks are as dead as the proverbial door nail today. There was nothing doing on the board and two sales of Oahu was all the business reported—one of 30 shares at 23.75 and one of 25 shares at 23.62 1/2, a decline of five-eighths from Saturday's quotation.

So many football players at the Colorado School of Mines have had slight injuries develop into serious wounds that the dirt on the football field is being analyzed. It is thought to contain enough arsenic to be poisonous.

"54" HUDSON--a Six
65 Miles an Hour.
To 58 Miles in 30
Seconds from Standing Start.

Here is the Answer to that oft asked question: What will Howard E. Coffin do when he builds a 'Six'?

The "54" HUDSON answers the question everyone in motordom has been asking for years. All know Howard E. Coffin to be America's foremost engineer. His six famous four-cylinder cars gained a reputation for him which led all to expect a wonderful six from him. But sixes are not like fours, as many a designer has learned to his sorrow. Mr. Coffin realized that, and so, instead of attempting a six alone, he first secured as his associates the men who had already accomplished the most in six-cylinder designing. His men came from the leading factories of Europe and America. There are 48 in all—representing 97 leading motor car manufacturers. Combined, they know just about all that has been learned in motor car building. So the "54" HUDSON—Mr. Coffin's answer—is the composite of what the most successful builders, working together, have accomplished.

Electric Self-Cranking---Electrically Lighted

The Best Car They Know.

It is smooth and flexible—the qualities for which sixes are really built, and which inexperienced men seem unable to obtain in the sixes they build. It is powerful—speedy, beautiful, safe and comfortable. Simplicity is a notable feature, and economy in operation is accomplished as it is in but few six-cylinder cars.

Not Just Two Cylinders Added to a "Four"

Adding two cylinders to a good four won't even make a poor six. Fours and sixes are entirely different. That is why some sixes give less than 30 per cent. increased power when their weight, and fuel and oil consumption are 50 per cent. greater than the four of same size, to say nothing of the greater first cost.

Comfort—Speed—Completeness

The cushions of the "54" HUDSON are Turkish type—12 inches deep. Backs are high, upholstery thick, springs flexible and the car is so nicely balanced that it will take the worst roads at speed and with little discomfort to passengers.

On the Indianapolis Speedway, a "54" fully equipped, carrying extra tires and four passengers, did 10 miles at 62 miles an hour. One year ago on the same course a $500 prize was forfeited because none of many of the best known fours and sixes sim-

Who Would Wed These Girls Of San Francisco?

Does any young gentleman in the audience desire to join a lovely lady across the waters in the holy bonds of matrimony? Don't be afraid to speak up. Just show a godlike form, a perfect profile, and a well filled pocket book, and perhaps you can win either Miss Vivian Pearle or Miss Evelyn Rey, who have written from San Francisco that they will consider offers of matrimony from fascinating Honolulu, males of the species, who come up to the above requirements.

Here's a copy of a really, truly letter, received this morning. It speaks for itself, or, to use words more in keeping with the general theme, whippersnappers.

"San Francisco, Nov. 30, 1912.
"Editor, Star-Bulletin.
"Honolulu, H. I.

Dear Sir:—Would you be kind kind enough to publish the following in your esteemed paper.

"In order to win a wager, two prepossessing and refined Native Daughters of California are desirous of corresponding with two gentlemen of means, as we are desirous of making our future home on the beautiful Hawaiian Islands, 'the Pearl of the Pacific.' Object, matrimony. Will await your reply with deep interest.

"VIVIAN PEARLE,
"EVELYN REY."

There's a chance that can't be overlooked long. Just imagine the joy and novelty of bringing a bride to live in some place that she has already gone on record as favoring! The address will be furnished to desirable parties. That's a consideration that should cover a multitude of possible disadvantages to taking this ticket in the matrimonial lottery. No anti-nuptial kicks about climate, scenery and the price of curl papers. No sudden discovery that sea level is sure death, and that nothing but Denver or the Himalayas will do for a permanent home. These beautiful dolls—we have their own word that they are "prepossessing"—want to live in Honolulu, nowhere else, and they can't very well go back on what's written down in black and robbin's egg blue.

Certainly Pearl should find a safe harbor and Evelyn a ray of the true light of love. It is unfortunate though that this offer comes around Christmas, for the mails are sure to the crowded, and the thousands of replies that will be dispatched to beauty in distress will certainly further delay Uncle Sam's service.

One interesting point which probably won't be settled until Vivian and Evelyn have had their first sight of Diamond Head, is just how they happened to recognize the undoubted charm and superiority of the Honolulu male. Was it the representative of the Promotion Committee now on the mainland, or the Hughes Opera Company that did the real boosting.

SHERMAN LAW SATISFACTORY, WICKERSHAM

No Need to Amend Present Act Declares the Attorney General in His Annual Report to Congress

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5.—The Sherman anti-trust law is proving its inadequacy as a civil statute and there is no necessity for the much discussed proposed amendment particularizing unlawful practices in restraint of trade, according to George W. Wickersham, Attorney General of the United States, in his annual report submitted to Congress today.

On the other hand, however, the Attorney General does not pass judgment upon the efficacy of the anti-trust act as a criminal statute. He merely says:

"The experience of the last year in endeavoring to enforce criminal liability under the Sherman law has not been encouraging." The Attorney General defends the Commerce Court, the abolition of which was attempted at the last session of Congress. A return to the old method of distributing litigation arising from the orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission to the district courts would be injurious to the interests of the public and delay the administration of justice, says Mr. Wickersham.

Applying Law

Drawing conclusions from the decrees of dissolution and injunction which already have been entered under the Sherman law, Mr. Wickersham maintains that the federal courts are exercising in equity suits a power to restrain which is co-extensive with the evils against which the Sherman law was enacted. The courts have found no difficulty, he adds, in applying the terms of the law to meet and enjoin the continuance of any form of unfair competition which has resulted in imposing any undue restraint upon interstate commerce or which makes for monopoly.

These decrees, the Attorney General continues, demonstrate that no amendment of the law in the direction of declaring the illegality of particular practices is necessary to clothe the courts with full power to prevent any and all acts which may be employed to accomplish the illegal purposes denounced by the statute.

"I am strongly of the opinion," says Mr. Wickersham, "that the advocacy of amendments of the law which shall particularize different acts as constituting unlawful restraints or attempts at monopoly has its origin, not so much with those who desire the enforcement of the law, as with those who are anxious to secure a safe means of its evasion. An enumeration by statute of the different practices which, in and of themselves without regard to the circumstances of particular cases, should be declared illegal will either go too far or not far enough.

Public Hearing.
The Attorney General takes issue with the decision of the Judges 'alt, Putman and Brown of Boston, authorizing the hearing in private before an examiner of the civil anti-trust suit against the United Shoe Machinery Company, and asks for legislation admitting the public and representatives of the press to such hearings.

The suit against the "Coffee Trust" or the Brazilian valorization scheme, the operations of which, the Attorney General says, has resulted in more than doubling the retail price of coffee to the American consumer and thereby laying a heavy tax upon him, has developed what the Attorney General regards as a defect in the still operative section of the Wilson tariff law dealing with combinations. Pointing to the fact that the government was unable to secure a temporary injunction restraining the exportation of 920,000 bags of coffee, said to be stored in New York City under the valorization scheme, the Attorney General recommends the enactment of an amendment to the Wilson law, authorizing the seizure by the government in the state of entry of merchandise imported for the purposes of unlawful combination. At present such commodities must be in the course of interstate transportation to justify seizure.

was subject, to a leasehold which would not expire for eight years and four months. Figuring that this would reduce the value, because immediate possession could not be had, discount at the rate of 5 per cent was deducted, leaving the present value, or the value on December 23, 1910, at $155,000.

Reidford estimated the building to be worth $65,000 and the land $168,637.50, figuring the latter as having an area of 7495 square feet and worth $22.50 per square foot.

E. H. Paris, manager for E. O. Hall & Son, C. M. Cooke and Samuel A. Walker were on the witness stand for a short time this morning, principally to establish evidence concerning the relations of lessee and lessor and the questions relative to the leasehold.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The social committee, under the direction of A. T. Wisdom, is planning another open house in celebration of New Year's Day. There will be Ladies' Night plans for the evening the feature of which will be several basketball games.

The College Men's Club is planning a dinner for this month. The date has not yet been definitely set, but the affair will probably take place on December 17.

There will be a meeting of the board of directors next Thursday noon. Secretary Loomis will make a special report on the boy's department, while A. E. Larimer will report on educational, membership and employment work.

The fall terms of the night school closes next Friday night. The term has been one of increased success, and at present there is a total of 180 students enrolled in the twelve different courses. The winter term will commence early in January with accommodations for a number of additional students and several new courses.

John La Bona, indicted for assault with a weapon, this morning entered a plea of guilty before Judge Robinson and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

Kim Chong today pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny in the second degree and was fined $25 and costs by Circuit Judge Robinson. He paid the fine.

Elizabeth Kuupua, who accused her husband, Louis Kuupua, of extreme cruelty, was granted a divorce by Judge Whitney this morning.

Sir Thomas Lipton has left Salt Lake City for Denver on his way east and home.

Reidford declared this morning on the witness stand that the present value of the interest of the Austin estate, which is the lessor of the land and building, is worth today the sum of $155,000, in round figures, or $156,069.85, in exact figures. At least this is the conclusion he has reached by his method of arriving at valuations.

This does not include the value of the interest of E. O. Hall & Son, the lessees, which is not included in the present hearing but will be determined in a suit coming later.

Reidford figured that the exact value of the building and land at the corner of King and Fort streets is $233,637.50. But at the time the condemnation suit was filed, December 23, 1910, the Austin estate's interest

'SUNNY JIM' IS 'IT' AGAIN

Hawaii will again be represented at the Imperial Council of the Mystic Shrine coming session by James S. McCandless—"Sunny Jim" as he has been known at many conventions of Shriners heretofore. He was re-elected as representative of Aloha Temple on Saturday night to attend the conclave at Dallas, Texas, in May next. At the meeting in Los Angeles this year Mr. McCandless made a close run for the office of outer guard and some whose votes had been pledged in advance to his successful rival admitted that it would be the turn of the Hawaiian representative next year.

For years past "Sunny Jim" has devised some different Hawaiian souvenir to distribute at each session of the Shriners, which in every case proved to be one of the most eagerly sought mementoes of the occasion. No doubt he will have something this year to create a near-riot in Dallas.

In addition to the election of Mr. McCandless to the Imperial Council, Aloha Temple on Saturday night elected the following officers for 1913:

Charles G. Bartlett, Illustrious Potentate.
Fred. C. Smith, Chief Rabbi.
Wm. H. Goetz, Assistant Rabbi.
George H. Angus, High Priest and Prophet.
Thomas E. Wall, Oriental Guide.
Harry E. Webster, Treasurer (re-elected).
Harry C. Bruns, Recorder (re-elected).

BIG NAVY

tenders and a dry-dock. The Navy general board recommends four battleships; and Secretary Meyer points out that even though this number should be authorized it would mean no real increase in the navy as four ships are soon to be retired because they will have passed the age of twenty years.

The opening of the Panama Canal will in no sense double the American fleet, according to Secretary Meyer. While it will increase its efficiency by facilitating its passage from one coast to another, this condition has been fully considered in calculating the naval program. Without the canal, says Secretary Meyer, experts figure that the United States would need a fleet double that of a country whose coast line is continuous.

The secretary estimates that a total of 41 battleships, with a proportional number of other fighting and auxiliary vessels, is the least that would place this country on a safe basis in its relations with other world powers. This fleet should be secured as soon as practicable, he said, and its strength should be maintained by replacing obsolete vessels with new ones by a uniform annual program. While the navy department would welcome more torpedo boats and submarines, the secretary expresses the belief that until more of the old battleships are replaced it is wiser to build battleships than smaller vessels.

Need Aeroplanes.
Aeroplane equipment is entirely inadequate at the present time, according to Secretary Meyer. He points out that while the United States spent only $140,000 for this purpose last year, Japan spent $600,000 and five European nations spent individual sums ranging from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000, the latter being the expenditure of France. Secretary Meyer says there should be no limitation upon the progressive development of naval aviation.

He recommends the creation of a naval reserve of about 50,000 men, 25,000 to be secured from the honorably discharged men of the navy, the naval militia, and various mechanical trades of civil life; the other 25,000 from among sailors of the merchant marine.

The application of the eight-hour law to all shipyards, says Secretary Meyer, will probably cause an increase in the appropriation necessary to build ships of a given type. As to small American navy yards, Secretary Meyer makes no definite recommendations for their abolishment, but suggests that if the American fleet is to spend part of its time on the Pacific coast after the Panama Canal opens, some of the navy yards on the eastern coast will automatically close from lack of work. As to the first-class yards he adopts the recommendation of the general board that all their channels be dredged to a depth of at least forty feet and a minimum width of 750 feet.

Senator Works is known not to be in sympathy with the third party movement and is expected to hold firm to the Republican party.

join the third party, and information which comes to Washington from his friends indicates that he believes the Republican party can be reorganized along progressive lines, and he expects to be one of the prime movers in attaining that object.

Senator Cummins of Iowa, another one of the "progressive Republicans" who sought the Republican nomination at Chicago last June, has given pretty good indication that he still considers himself a Republican, and intends to stick. Others of the progressive stamp, such as Senators Borah of Idaho, Gronna of North Dakota and Crawford of South Dakota, are expected to remain inside the Republican fortress.

The recruiting of the progressives' among the Republicans of the House into the third party is rather indefinite as to numbers, but the coming conference at Chicago is expected to develop the position of some not now positively identified.

Ancient Ex-Presidents.

The plan to make ex-presidents cloakroom statesmen is not meeting with uproarious approval. A bill was formulated by Representative Burleson of Texas. It was intended to carry out the scheme suggested by William J. Bryan. It gives an ex-president all the rights of a delegate in the House and donates him a salary of $17,000 per year. He may not sit on any committees or have a vote. But he may talk himself hoarse whenever any topic comes up on which he knows more than his fellows.

Mr. Burleson framed his bill and submitted it to the House committee on appropriations for approval of the financial feature. He will seek to have it passed during the short session of Congress. It is not believed that success can be achieved. A majority of the conservative legislators seem to think an ex-president should jump back into the ranks and take his place as a plain American citizen. There is no disposition to lessen his dignity by tossing him into some minor position as an advisor to those actively engaged in framing laws.

'ALL SET' FOR WORLD TOUR

Ernest Kaal, manager of the Kaal Glee Club, and who left for the coast last month to make arrangements for the proposed world tour of the club, returned this morning on the Steamer While in San Francisco. Mr. Kaal conferred with the coast agent of the London syndicate under whose auspices the trip is to be made, and reports that the final arrangements will be completed by the middle of next March, at which time the club will begin the tour which will include Australia, the Philippines, South Africa, Europe and other countries.

The present plans for the tour are satisfactory, according to Mr. Kaal, but there are still a few preliminary details to be arranged. The trip will be of such a length as to bring the club back to San Francisco in time for the big fair, and while away, Mr. Kaal collected a large amount of data regarding ancient and modern Hawaiian music for use at the Hawaiian exhibit at the exposition.

"There are a number of troupes of Hawaiian singers in San Francisco at present," said Mr. Kaal, "some of which are playing in vaudeville, while others are engaged in concert work. The greater number of these troupes are doing exceedingly well and are good advertisements for Hawaii."

APPOINTMENTS WODEHOUSE.

E. H. Wodehouse, a present member of the board of immigration, has been appointed president of that body to succeed Richard Ives. In announcing the appointment Governor Frear explains that there is nothing unusual in the procedure, the change being made because Ivers expects to go east on a trip of some length. The latter remains a member of the board.
